

Prevention Symposium

How the New Health Care Paradigm Supports Healthy Aging

Tuesday, June 5, 2012 • 1:30 pm to 5 pm

Northwest Auditorium • UCLA Covell Commons Sunset Village

330 De Neve Dr., L-16, Los Angeles, CA 90095-1492

This symposium is the first in a series of sessions hosted by the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health. It will focus on “healthy aging” and will promote integration of efforts between clinical providers and community-based organizations to support the health care needs of Los Angeles County’s aging citizens.

Objectives:

1. Identify highest value Clinical Preventive Services in elderly patient care.
2. Describe how health care providers, community members, and public health work together to provide culturally competent services.
3. Understand how health care reform provides new opportunities to improve care for aging citizens.

Who Should Attend: Individual providers, medical directors and clinic administrators, academic physicians and faculty, health care organizations, public health professionals, and any others who plan or deliver health care services for the elderly.

Why You Should Attend: Learn evidence-based strategies that protect health and promote positive health outcomes through the integration of clinical and community-based care for elderly patients. Expert speakers include:

Dr. Jonathan Fielding, Health Officer and Director, Los Angeles County Department of Public Health

Dr. Catherine Sarkisian, Associate Professor of Geriatrics, David Geffen School of Medicine, UCLA

Dr. Kathleen Wilber, Mark Pickford Foundation Professor of Gerontology, Davis School of Gerontology, USC

Dr. Bruce Chernof, President & Chief Executive Officer, The Scan Foundation

Dr. David Reuben, Director, Geriatric Medicine, David Geffen School of Medicine, UCLA

Laura Trejo, MSG, General Manager, LA City Department of Aging

Dr. Tony Kuo, Director, Los Angeles County Office of Senior Health

Continuing Medical Education: The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health is accredited by the Institute for Medical Quality/California Medical Association (IMQ/CMA) to provide continuing medical education for physicians. The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health designates this live activity for a maximum of 2.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™.
